

LAKE CHAPALA UNITARIAN UNIVERSALIST FELLOWSHIP NEWSLETTER AUGUST, 2017

Upcoming Services

August 6th - Marshall Krantz arranges the weekly film program at LCS, and has done so for many years. His selection of films as well as his spirited introductions and comments have afforded much enjoyment to those who attend. Films can influence people's thinking about everyday life and some can increase the capacity for empathy. Marshall will speak about what he has gained personally from his contribution of time, knowledge & expertise.

August 13th - Inez Dayer is Director of the ESL Program at LCS. Her work can provide inspiration to us as we consider the many options of how to assist others in the Ajijic and the Lake Chapala area. People from different socioeconomic levels take the courses. There is hope of improving one's socio-economic status by increasing employment options, particularly for those in poverty. The benefits of learning a second language can have significant positive effects on the brain. Inez will speak about what involvement with the program has meant to her and what she has gained personally from her work on behalf of young people and adults.

August 20th - TBA

August 27th - "Music from the Heart" Wayne and Linda Conklin will speak about how music can touch others and thereby impact their lives in unexpected ways. They will relate stories from their own lives, as well as some of their friends. Wayne and Linda will play music for the meditation and the offering on the hammered dulcimer, autoharp and bodhran (Celtic drum).

ELLEN McFARLAND

Who is Ellen McFarland? There are many germane and surprising answers to this question. She is, among other things, a gardener, a world traveler, a teacher of English as a Second Language, and an interior decorator of her own beautiful house in Ajijic, a mother, a grandmother, a friend, and a member of LCUUF.

In her childhood, her family moved constantly as her father was in the military. Ellen said she “didn’t like” the constant uprooting and changing of schools and friends. Her best years, however, were spent in Hawaii, when she was ten to twelve years old. From Hawaii her family moved to Phoenix. Ellen grew up in Phoenix and was able to make her own decisions, and the first one was to stop moving all over the country. She happily settled down, got married and had two children. She finished her B.A. in Human Nutrition at Arizona State University while raising her children and holding down a job to pay for her education and meet household expenses. After obtaining her degree, she worked in management for several hospitals. She was a single mother during many of those years. She said her children were helpful and supportive, which enabled her to accomplish her educational goals.

In 1980 Ellen moved to San Francisco and worked in the dietary department of a major hospital. She worked there until 1993 when she moved to Prague in the Czech Republic, teaching English, utilizing the certificate she had obtained through night school courses in San Francisco. Ellen spent her 50th birthday in a pub in Prague. It was an “exciting time,” as she said, to be there. Because of social and political changes, Western teachers of English were in heavy demand. After a year in Prague, she returned to San Francisco where she obtained her M.A. in TESOL (Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages).

Ellen received a USIS fellowship to train teachers of English in Nizhny Novgorod in Central Russia. She enjoyed the Russian people, finding them friendly, always ready for a spontaneous party. She said she was “not lonely” that year.

Moving back to San Francisco, Ellen taught ESP (English for Special Purposes) to engineers in Silicon Valley for two years. By that time she realized that she was in her mid-fifties and had made no financial plans for retirement. She looked around for a lucrative job and found employment teaching ESP in the United Arab Emirates. She worked there for eight years and was able to save two-thirds of her salary. Her next move was to Japan, where she was able to save one-half of her salary for the five years she taught there. Her self-imposed retirement plan, it seemed, was efficacious, lucrative, and, to be honest, a lot of fun! She left Japan in 2012, returning to San Francisco where she taught online adult ESP for three years. She still has one Japanese online student.

By the year 2014 Ellen’s two children were married, living in California, and had produced two grandchildren. Ellen was more than ready for retirement. She moved to Ajijic where she is active in the UU Fellowship and takes cooking and gardening classes. She likes traveling within Mexico, has a host of friends, myriad social activities, and is exploring Secular Buddhism and studying Spanish, proving that, after all these years, Ellen still enjoys learning new things.
