UPCOMING SERVICES

This Week: October 13

SERVICE IS AT 1PM!

"Putting Love at the Center" - A Climate Justice Sunday Revival with Worship and Workshop

Presenters and Service Leaders:

Social Action and Sunday Service Team Members

You are invited to an exciting Climate Justice Revival on October 13th at the Lake Chapala Unitarian Universalists Fellowship (LCUUF) as we collectively reimagine a spirit-filled and liberatory future. Through celebratory worship and conversations we will begin to understand climate justice as it pertains to our Lakeside communities.

Sunday, our worship will be focused on Love at the Center of Climate Justice. Following worship we'll engage in a workshop to:

Identify opportunities for climate justice in our unique context

Develop a vision of a flourishing future

Identify a clear set of potential actions that we can take to realize

Next Week: October 20

"Life, Death and Everything In Between"

Presenter: Rev. D'Vorah Kelley

Service Associate: Priscilla Taylor

Mary Oliver was a prolific award-winning poet before her death in 2019. Her poems often touch on spiritual topics like God and prayer, even though she rarely talked much about churches, official beliefs, or other things people often associate with religion. She became an unconventional spiritual teacher for many people because she wrote a lot about God, what might come after death, and the questions all humans face about why we are here. "We all wonder about God," Mary said. "Who is God? What's going to happen when we die?"

For many long time Unitarian Universalists, she is the unofficial Poet Laureate of Unitarian Universalism. Today's service will offer seven of her poems that explore the theme of "Life, Death, and Everything In Between". There will be a Time For Reflection as part of this service.

this vision

Enable participants to understand their roles in the interdependent ecosystem of creating climate justice and collective liberation.

NOTE: QUARTERLY PLANNING MEETING FOR DECEMBER, JANUARY & FEBRUARY- OCTOBER 20TH DIRECTLY AFTER THE SERVICE!

A Word From Rev. Matt Alspaugh

October 12, 2024

I'm filing my report today from Charlotte, NC, where Liz and I are waiting for our flight to Italy. We have been here a few days, hoteling it, as our Hendersonville home has had no power from Hurricane Helene until yesterday. We consider ourselves fortunate, though, as there was no flooding or damage to our house, and no one we know was injured or killed. We (mostly Liz) just faced the inconvenience of lack of power, spotty supplies, and sketchy communications.

She both helped and was helped by friends and neighbors, as part of a wonderful network of face to face caring and concern.

And yet, we were bothered by the plethora of dark rumors and conspiracy theories that have circulated after the storm, spread even by family and friends. This rumor-mongering has been so bad that our normally conservative Republican representative responded with a press release debunking myths and conspiracies.

Liz and I head to the Piedmont area of Italy, where we'll connect with my brother, my sister and her husband for a few days. Then we'll head to Croatia where we'll join an organized trip with Road Scholars. This is our first time traveling with RS, but we've heard good things about them, including from some of you.

After our time in Croatia, Liz heads home, and I go back to Italy, where I'll join my brother and my other sister for some time in the Sorrento area (my brother is spending a couple months in Italy.) Finally, I'll head back to NC, where I'll spend a week with Liz, probably dealing with yard cleanup and other storm recovery efforts. I will return to Ajijic on November 16, and may see you on November 17.

Although I typically continue my ministry with LCUUF when I'm in NC, sometimes even leading services via Zoom, for the European part of the trip, I'll be treating this more like a vacation. Please reach out to congregational leadership if you have questions; they can be in touch with me if needed. I look forward to seeing you all in late November, hopefully quite well rested!

LCUUF Congregational Survey

It has been three years since the last congregational survey. Leadership would like to learn more about how we have been doing and how we may better serve the congregation moving forward.

You will receive the survey via email this coming week. The email will include a link to the online survey. All you need to do is click on the link and it will take you to the actual 27 question survey. If more than one person shares an email, each person will be able to use the same link and submit their own response. This survey is divided into three topical sections: General Interest, Sunday Services and Demographics. You will have 2 weeks to complete the survey.

Your response is important and will help us with board and committee planning and program development for the year ahead!

Transformative Worship Workshop and Change

Recently members of LCUUF attended a series of 12 workshops exploring Transformative Worship. As a result of those workshops put on by the Unitarian Universalist Association(UUA), there may be future changes in our worship services, some subtle, some not so subtle. Unlike springing closed curtains on an unsuspecting congregation (which has been met with very mixed reviews!) the Sunday Service Team will do our best to alert the congregation ahead of time of any proposed changes, and we welcome feedback!

Two upcoming proposed changes: 1) Information about Share the Basket recipients will be on a slide rather than being read by the Service Associate. 2) The October 20th service will incorporate a Time For Reflection following the presentation, and before the closing.

And if anyone wishes to attend our Sunday Services Team meeting on Monday, October 14th, we'd love to have you! We meet outside in the garden so let us know so that we'll have a chair ready for you.

Assistive listening devices at LCUUF

We have headphones you can use to better hear the service. They have an adjustable volume control. I find they help me hear the service better than my hearing aid. Ask the Tech Team if you are interested. We only have 4 headphones, but if they are popular, we can get more.
